ANOTHER TRIUMPH FOR "LA MASCOTTE " TROUPE."

Enthusiastic Reception at Macao.

MACAO, March 27. "The grandest combination of musical talent ever heard at Macao," was the -unanimous opinion of the crowded audience which filled the large theatre of Dom Pedro on Saturday evening, the inhabitants of the Colony having been waxing enthusiastic ever the anticipated visit of "La Mascotte" troupe, following on their great success at Hongkong and no less creditable performance at Canton where the communities of the Shameen accorded them a tremendous Repetition of "La Mascotto" by these children only serves to heighten, i possible, the "attractiveness of the piece, for its benutiful duets and solos were the feature of the evening and the audience appreciated to the fullest extent the splendid acting of the juveniles and accorded them a large measure of spontaneous applause.

Miss Elirida Osmund, the queen who reigns supreme in the hearts of all, her hearers, gave a satisfying performance, displaying gaiety and a rivacity that accorded well with the true spirit of comedy. TO-NIGHT; She showed herself particularly apt in expressing the mood of the hour and her facial expressions were perfect. A great hit was made by this brilliant young actress in the song "Walking home with Angeline," for which she was encored no less than four times. Miss Phyllis D'Almada e BANDMANN OPERA CO. Castro, a claver juvenile with the promise of a great future before her, was particularly fascinating and triumphed in all her appearances. Master Dick D'Almada shops most brilliantly of Prince Laurant and together with Master Jorge Vas and Moster R. Baptista, ably supported by the other members of the combination played La Mascotto in such an excellent manner that fully justified the high opinion of the audience.

A matinee performance was given before another-crowded house on Sunday after-

There was a general exodus of holiday makers from Hongkong for the Easter holidays, many of them accompa troupe, who stayed at the Macao Hotel, where Mr Farmer assiduously attended to their individual comforts. Every facility and convenience during the journey to and from Macso-was placed at their disposal by Mr J. Arnold, secretary of the Hongkong and Macao Steamboat Co., Ltd., as well as by the captain and pursers of the boats and the attractions of the voyage were considerably enhanced by the personal attention of these gentlemen to even the minutest defail towards the comforts of such a large number, together with the services of the full orchestra of the Socidade Philharmonics, who accompanied the troups and Probably one more performance will be given at the Club Lusitane. Hongkong. Without exception, all who have seen these talented children perform will no doubt look forward with keen anticipations of pleasure to the opening of the "Cloches de Corneville," under Mr A. F. Silva's able direction, rehearents for which commence in the autumn.

HUMAN RACE FIGHTS AGAINST ITS OWN ADVANCEMENT.

"The human race has ever fought its own advancement," writes Mr Clifford Howard in a suggestive article on "Progress " in the Atlantic Monthly. " Jeaus and Darwin were alike accepted under protest. No reform has yet been invited. Each forward move has been resisted; and resisted not along the Saddueses, but by the multitude. There has been no step onward in the march of knowledge save over the body of some martyred torchbearer. And the first martyr was the first man. For all ages has he been accursed for his disobedience in secking added A NATION VOTING AGAINST PROGRESS.

"We of this big republic completently affirm the glory of our national achievements, and are not without temptation to neclaim them as proof of superior craft and judgment. But herein do we forget that we are on record as having cast our vote against every move that has contributed to the present century's development. Not one of its essential factors came into play without an earnest effort on the part of the public to thwart it. We, the people, have stood squarely against each and every innovation that has moved the world beyoud the days of Washington.

REFORMS WHICH WERE OPPOSED. "We raised our voices in contemptuous protest against the first projected milways. Had the locomo ive awaited its signal from the people, it would not yet have started. When the electric telegraph was shown to us we brushed it aside as a toy; and laughed its inventor to scorn when he offered to sell us his rights for'h faw thousand dollars. We put into jail as an impostor the first man who brought authracita coal to market. We broke to pieces Howe's sewing-machine as an invention calculated to ruin the working classes; and we did the same thing to the harvester and the binder. We seerned the typewriter as a plaything. We gathered together in mass meetings of indignation at the first proposal to install electric trolley lines; and when Dr Bell told us he had invented an instrument by means of which we might talk to one "another across the town, --responded with accustomed ridicule, and only the reckless among us contributed to its being. HOW GREAT, MEN WERE REJECTED. ... When, seventy years ago, Will Lloyd. Garrison preached the abolition of slavery, we tied a halter about him, and dragged him though the streets of Boston. rained annthemas upon the memory of Jenner when his disciples undertook to vaccinate us. We hooted Dr Simpson as an atheist for introducing the use of aniesthetics in his surgical practice. We be held strits HEAD OFFICE, No. 2, Queen's repelled the efforts of our first health We stormed in righteous wrath against Robert Ingersoll for suggesting that Moses made mistakes; and when Darwin presented his 'Origin of Species,' our outery was a perfect whirlwind of denunciation, a tempest that blighted men's reputations, and east out professors from universities, and clergymen from pulpits. "There is that in our blood as a social organism which craves fixation. Man's first business after the Deluge was to anchor the earth to heaven, and from that

UNION INSURANCE SOCIETY OF immobile. "Not until a full generation after Darwin's pronunciamento did our colleges permit the teaching of the theory of evolu knowledging the righteousness of alcoholic tion. It is only now that many of our States are for the first time formally actemperance; and it is but yesterday that our cities officially recognised the parasitic theory of disease, and put into practice the principles of antisepsis. And yet, even so, there still drags behind a clamorous host of individuals clinging faithfully to Moses, and to their charms of whisky and of ashfortida.

NO PROGRESS AMONG ANIMALS. "We look in vain for the phenomenon of progress among other social forms of life _the bees, the ants, the apes, the beavers; even primitive groups of man himself, as we find them in the Hottentar, the Busha map, and the Gypsy. They are to day where they were when the shepherds came to Arcady. They are living as their Abrahams lived; doing what they did; thinking what they thought. Each generation follows its predecessor in unfailing similitude of knowledge, of habit, of social condition. And, were we let alone, would not we, too, exhibit the same invariability? Indeed, do we not come now and again upon some community hid in the very midst of us that has held fast to a bygone age?some community, which the angel of progress whas passed over leaving it at peace with the tools and the faith of ita fathers? THE IMPULSE PROM WITHOUT. "Every onward movement of civilisation has been in subjection to an impulse from without. Never does the impulse spring from the race itself. Nor-does it at once comprehend the race in seeking its expression. This impulse-from whatever realm of mind it may come-confines its epiphany to the Individual. Now here. now there, it seizes upon a son of man and makes of him the reformer, the inventor.

the revealer of God. In him is the Divine niesus of him does it push the race from its orbit of instinctive fixity and send it spinning into larger arc. COSPIL OF THE INDIVIDUAL. "The history of human progress is but he world's commentary upon the gospel of the Individual. No truth is ever revealed directly to mankind. The Individual is always the intermediary. Yet never has the race called him or been prepared to welcome him. It has never had any conscious need of him." He has over been a disturber of peace; a heretic: a dreamer of dreams; despised and rejected of men. Nor does it avail to ask him for what gain he endures the flings | TRON, STEEL, METAL and HARD. the rulers of earth. IF THE NAZARENE RETURNE.

" Should the Nazarene return to-day, he would but underscore his teachings. He would have no word less to speak! Our wonder working flames and engines have built for us ho avenue to heaven. Neither Paul nor Plato would have uttered different truths because of telegraphs or railways, nor would the Psalmist have sung to-day in closer tune with God. With all our devices, all our multiplicity of knowledge. there has come no higher wisdom to the race. We yet must turn for life's essential guidance to the teachers of the past."

THE WOMAN OF THE FUTURE. there are several venerable notions regarding women which must now be discarded. These are : "that women turn giddy if they stand on a chair, that the only time they can run quickly is when they see a mouse, that they faint at the sight of blood, and make the gruelling of their dearest friends a regular five-o'clock amusemeat, that they have no sense of honour and can not bear another woman to be admired." We read further:

Henry Arthur Jones has been bewailing the fact that the Agnes and Dorn types of w muan are disappearing. It is interesting to find that men still exists who like those types-men who would not have gone with a laugh to the gallows for the joy of throttling agnes or at least appeared at Bow Street on a charge of throwing the lamp at Dora. Saints are usually adored in proportion to the time that has elapsed since their death. It takes us some centurice to recover from the exertion of burning or behending them. If Ames could only die we might feel more kindly to her wellmenning, priggish soul. As it is Mr Jones weeps alone over her thinning descendants. And as to Dora; did not Dickens himself know that she must die early? His Flora is unforgivable, just as Dor vigrown to Fora would have been unboarable.

These two types are becoming increasingly rare. In their places we have women who think and feel. Instead of the women of Dickens we are coming to have the women of Meredith. Dickens was an artist; he painted what he saw. Meredith was a seer; he described what was to be. His large-souled women, with their capability, their charm, are coming to pass under our eyes. Carinth a Jane, in her time a surprize, or even, as Mr Swiveller would have said, a stranger to every one, now gives way to ladies who call the Alps "hills" and are only content when they are perched on a Himalayan peak where no one has ever been before. Carinthia Jane's stride is almost a toddle now.

Is any one really very sorry that Amelia Sodley has closed her teafful eyes and Diana has opened her clear ones.? The women, who used to be escorted from station to station when crossing London on their travels now use unknown Central Africa as a playground. They are terms of perfect sportsmanship- (" I'll kill you if you don't kill me first, old boy ! ")with hippopotami and tigors and wild boars, and all other beasts who are worth hunting. because they can be admirable hunters There are at least two English women who have travelled absolutely alone over China, and the reputation of that country has something particularly daunting about it... The Celestial is a mysterious and an uncanny gentleman. His ways are sleek. He is gentle, silent, and smooth as paraffin but he is, also careless with the matches. The English miss," with her paraphernalis of teaching, her blue glasses and short skirts and every prone and prism still corner, quietly teaching French and music. (and a little German) as though she were within a hundred yards of her examination-Mr Jones also counted the Jane Austen women among the vanishing types. Evidently Mr Jones never leaves London or he would know that there is not a country town in the land but bristles with Jane Austen women. With a good many exceptions one would not be serry to see them go. They are kindly, but small-deadly intact, is to be found in many an odd

The woman of the future is not of this type. She is far too busy to be womanish, but she will never grow out of being feminine. She is shedding her smallness. Like the genie in the Arabian Nights, now the cork has been removed, she is darkening Glove Stretchers, Shoe Horns and Ornathe whole sky like a pillar of smoke; but presently the smoke will settle into a "figure of gigantic size." She will be the Merc. dith woman softened by reality, as Galatea Gold Bracelets, Uun Linesoftened into life. She will not glide about Watch Charms, etc., etc. with uplifted finger like Agnes, nor drive tired men to distraction with her prattle like Dora, nor weep eternally when George is unkind like Amelia. No, when she feels hystorical she will go and sit on a Himaleya till she is cooler, and when her husband annoys her out of her usual placidity, sticking a few pigs in Texas or India will soon put her straight. And with it all she will wear her frills as well as ever Why should not a woman know how to be a pal as well as how to do her hair? Bless. ings on the woman of the future; showis going to be perfectly delightful.

SURNAMES. Sour of us feel we owe a grudge to our god-fathers and god-mothers for the names they bestowed upon us at our haptism. Undoubtedly it is hard for a in a time when a man's wealth was boy to begin school-life saddled with such names as Augustus Adolphus, or Horatio Launcelot, and it is sure to be the fair girl who is named Olive, and the hot-tempered girl who is called Serena. But after all, a Christian name is only used by one's family and friends and it is easy to abbreviate it or change it according to one's fancy. 'How often we find that the child who was christened by some such names as Theodore Eustace Marmaduke, is known to his friends in after life as Tod or Dobbs, and in the marriage announcements in the newspaper we frequently see Sarah Jane (Jeannie) Jones was wedded on such a day, or Anna Eucy (Leila)

But on whom shall we throw th flame for the surname to which we were born, the name which we have to sign some dozen or score of times every day, and to hear at every turn, from which we cannot escape without the aid of the law and the sacrifice of a sum of money? Even if we resort to this extreme, it is doubtful whether we shall really escape John Pigg or Tom Bugg may become By law John Theobald or Noriolk Howard but which of the acquaintances of their youth will forget that one was born a Pigg, the other a Bugg?

How interesting it would be if we could look back through the centuries and discover how our surname came init is supposed was given to those who to being. Historians tell us that surnames did not come into common use the river Jordan by returning Crusaders as hereditary names until the thirteentl or by palmers and pilgrims. Others century. Before the time of King John, a single name, or a name with a descriptive nickname attached, was enough to distinguish any man. In our schooldays we had it impressed upon us that teresting study this of the deriva. WILLIAM the Second was surnamed Rufus, on account of his red hair, and to light many historical incidents. But HENEY the First was known as Beauclere, search as we may, we shall fail to disor the fine scholar. In this way no cover the man to whom we owe our doubt the enricat surpames arose. grudge-or our thanks the man who Chamberlain's Pain Balm. There is no Where there two Johns or Henrys in a first bestowed our surname on a far-off village one might be distinguished as ancestor. He is lost for ever in the mista Strong John, or Brown John, and after of antiquity.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

a time it become necessary to give the same name to his children, so that they were all called Strongs or Browns. This-names still in use to-day, names which mental, of a man of olden time. Thus we have Short, Little, Long, Lang

Longman, Black, White, Gray, Green,

Young, Armstrong, Hardy, Sharp, and Merriman. Then it happened perhaps, that into Strong John's village would come another John from some distance away, who would be called John-of-the-hill, or John-of-the-wood, or John-of-the-marsh, or John-of-the Townsend, according to the place from which he came.

So te-day we have as surnames, Hill

Wood, Marsh, Ford, Forrest, Heath, and also Payne, a corruption of Pagen, the dweller in the country (pays, as the French have it), as opposed to the town dweller. Because these Paynes, or Pagans, were as a rule wilder and more savage man and afterwards a non-Chrisderivation. As the population of the village increased it was found that these distinguishing names would not suffice.

John, or Johnson, and Hugh son of Robert and so forth. It many cases one Christian name has formed a variety of surnames. From Richard, we have

"Richardson, Rix, Ricketts, Dixon,

Dickens, Dickerson, and Dickerson.

From Walter we get Watson, Watkins

Watts: from William, Williams, Williamson, Wilsom, Wilkins, Wilson, is that which tells the occupation of the original possessor of the name. These are almost countless. F Among them we have names for occupations ong since fallen into disuse, such as, Falconer, Fuller, Scrivener, Ar cher, Bowman, Plummer, Pounder, Poynte, Fletcher, Fludger, Foulger.

customers, and minter. Upo of the most interesting of these is Stuart, which names, common we consider them but representing the backbone of the nation n times past, and surely the same today. England"is full of Smiths, and many of them count the well-known name something of a grievance and alter it to Smyth, but were not the Smiths in sense the makers of English greatness in olden time?. Ask the Chroniclers and the folk who told the tale of Way land Smith, itself a corruption of the still earlier story of Vulcan, the armour-er of the gods. What would have been left. if the Bakers, the Carpenters, the Turners, the Wrights, the Shepherds, the Farmers, the Slaters, the Taylors, the Masons, the Coopers, the Drapers, and all the rest of them, had been taken from the nation? To possess as one?

one should be proud. There are many surnames of which the derivation not "so easy to "trace. Frequently they will be found to be names of places adopted in the past as distinguishing names. The original possessors of these we may fancy to be enterprising in those early days. The name of Jordan the rules of proper speling in the brave days of yore. An in-tion of surnames, and one that brings

Willett, and so forth.

THE REPLAYED FOOTBALL TINAL.

Buffs Defeat Naval Yard

Before an exceedingly big crowd the Buffs and Naval Yard met for the secon time on the Hongkong Football Club ground on Saturday afternoon to decide who should hold the Challenge Shield for the 1909-10 season. If the attitude of the spectators could be taken as a guide, the Admiral's flag. She goes to Mirs Bay for Naval Yardors were the favourites, but throughout the game the soldiers were tol dogs and ran out easy winners by 4 goals to 1. Mr A. Gregory was the referee. Massrs Barlow and Hamilton linesmen, and meses McCubbin and Bishop goal judges. The teams were procisely the same as i the first meeting of the sides, namely :--Buffs-Black; Cloke and Baldry; Dure, Wron and Cooper; Downs, Brewster;

Taylor ; Ryan and Barker. Naval Yard-Ryall; Joughin, Harding; Anderson, Brown, Macey; Wilks, Watkins; Raid; Sullivan, Dalziel. Losing the toss the Yard kicked off

Although in use for a great number of wind either way. The Yarders immediately got into their opponents' territory but Cloke saved the situation by successfully tackling a man. The naval men were soon St. Andrew's, Kowloon, drew large back again, Wilks striking the side of the numbers of worshippers at all the services net with a good shot. The venue of play was changed by Browster and Taylor, who worked close in to the other goal Jaughin however, came to the rescue. was conspicuous for some clever work which set his forwards going, but a foul throw stopped further progress. After a brief visit to the Yard goal by the Buffs, the naval men were back again. Cloke endeavouring to clear drove the ball against Sullivan, who almost slipped through. Dare however, was about and did the needful. Downs tried his luck at the other and without success. Play was up and down the field until the opening goal came, about a quarter of an hour from the start. The movement which secured it was initiated by Brawster, who gave the leather to Ryan. That man in turn passed on to Taylor, who worked close in and finished with a shot which gave Ryall no earthly chance. Immediately following this Reid broke away and looked like making matters even. but Cloke dashed across and put the ball outside. Maintaining the pressure, the Yarders secured a corner. The kick was beautifully taken and Dalziel took a sho at goal. The ball however struck Dare and rebounded at Sullivan's feet. The latter drove at goal but finished wide of the mark. "At the other goal a hot shot Brewster was well negotiated by Ryall Hyall had to leave his goal to clear from Dare, and then the Yarders gradually worked down field. Roid secured, tricked a couple of opponents and got into position, only to shoot over the bar. Dalziel was then conspicuous. He gave Black a hot shot and the keeper carried the ball over the line for corner. From the kick the ball was sent behind direct. Then the Buils took up the running and were soon rewarded with another goal. Barker had been carrying the ball along when he passed it across to Brewster. The latter placed it between

AN EASTER MONDAY ON HAMPSTEAD HEATH.

Specially written for the "Onine Mail.") What would the Londoner do without. Hampstead Heath? There, just beyond the 4 mile "radius from Charing Cross, the nature-lover may wander in the sweet springtime among hawthorns snowy with fragrant bloom, and may watch the uncurlgolden glory of the blossoming gorse. There, happy children may run wild down the grassy slopes, and play among the bushes, peopling the place in imagination with wild Indians, or Royalists and Roundheads, as their fancy dictates, while the less imaginative amuse themselves sailing toy ships on the Whitestone Pond at th summit of the hill, through which the kindly carter drives his weary horse after its arduous uphill journey.

But on bank holidays the Heath is transformed. Then the quiet Vale of Health is covered by a seething multitude. Every where are tests and stalls and booths. From crowded court and airless alley the Londoners have poured out in their thousands to enjoy a long day of freedom at "appy 'Ampstead."

On a fine Easter Monday the Heath will attract a great number of holiday makers, and every train that arrives will be packed with them, They trudge up the hill from the station, mother with the baby in her arms, while father carries the youngest but one, and the other children push on shead At the Wesleyan Church last night, Old and young are dressed in their best the Rev. Hongkong Tides. The tide table given below has been compiled at the Nautical Almanac Office in London from the result of the analysis of observations taken by means of an au tomatic tide-recording machine in the Water Police Basin at Talm Sha Tsul during the years 1887-8-9. The zero of the table corresponds with the zero of the soundings in the Admiralty Charts which has been found to be 4 feet inches below mean sea level. To obtain the depth of water on the tide gauge at the Victoria Naval Yard add 8 foot 4 Inches, and on the gauge at Lamont Dock, Aberdeen, add 10 feet 6 inches to MANILA. the height given in the table.
